DEMANDS OF THE SWITCHMEN.

More Wages and Less Hours of Work the Question Considered in Conference.

Some six weeks ago the switching craws of the several railroads at this point, through Grand Chief Frank Sweeney, of their mutual aid association, asked for more pay and less hours, and an increase in the number of a crew. The matter was then considered in a conference between Sweeney, the superintendents of the roads and a committee of the switchmen, and while nothing affecting all the roads came from the conference, two or three of the companies increased eligicly the pay, making it the same as that paid on other roads, and as matters became quiet it was thought the difficulty was settled. On Monday, however, Mr. Sweeney called for another conferance, for yesterday, but it was so unexpected that all the superintendents could not be present, and in their places masters of transportation in several cases were present. The demand now is that the switching crews shall be paid $75 per month, that twenty-six days shall constitute a month's and ten hours a day's work, and that to each crew must be added a third man. On some roads three men are now employed. The conference lasted several hours, but nothing definite was reached. As a final answer was expected by the switchmen, it was feared that there would be a strike, but better counsels seem to have prevailed The superintendents, while disposed to do what is right with the men, feel that the demands are too great, and in some cases would increase the expenses of the yards 75 per cent. The switchmen have but little to say regarding the matter. although occasionally one talks a little boastfully. Usually, forty-two crews are employed, including those on the Belt road, but as business has been dull for a large portion of the time during the past few months, but thirtyseven crews were employed. .

OLD RHYMES IN NEW PLACES

The Literature of the Nursery Illustrated at the Flower Mission Fair.

Inviting Scenes That Awaken Recollections of Happy Days of Childhood-Treasures of Mother Goose Presented in New Forms.

The eighth annual fair of the Flower Mission opened last night at Tomlinson Hall, under the most favorable circumstances. The hall, which had all day presented a scene of the utmost confusion had been changed into a place of order and beauty. The "Old Rhymes in New Places," (the name by which the fair is to be known this year), is pronounced the prettiest fair that has been given by this society. The rhymes chosen are those familiar to almost everyone who has related or heard the tales of the famous Mother Goose. The space under the gallery has been taken for the booths, leaving the entire center of the hall free, for the promenade or seats. At the south end of the hall, between the entrance doors, is the gypsy camp. The wagon is completely arranged, with the several compartments. Near by is the tent and kettle and a log fire burns incessantly. A rail-fence surrounds the whole and keeps out intruders. The motto on the wagon is: Hark! hark! hear the dogs bark, The beggars are coming to town; Some in rags and some in tags And some in velvet gown. And on the tripod is fastened Hink, minx, the old witch winks; The fat begins to fry; There's nobody home but jumping Joan, Father, mother and I.

Mrs. W. J. McKee has charge of the camp and is assisted by Misses Carrie Vajen, Stella Wiles, May McKinney, Kate Landis, Josephine Robinson, Celine McKee, Elizabeth Harris, Florence Kinckei. All are dressed in gypsy costume. Fortunes are told and a variety of articles are for sale, as is the wagon.

The first booth at the right is for the icecream. It is in gothic style, and has many peaks and curious windows. The outside motto is in German and is thus translated: "After the day's care and troubles is rest very often needed, and who has a heart for the poor is invited to step in." The mottoes inside are

My story's ended, My spoon is bended, If you don't like it Go next door and get it mended.

Little Minnie Manypenny Was not very hold. She eat two plates of frozen cream

The costumes are black dresses, white caps, collar and aprons for the matrons, and white dresses with black trimmings and white aprons and caps for the young ladies. Mrs. Henry Severin and Mrs. Fred P. Rush are the hostesses. They are assisted by Mesdames John Wocher, Julius Wocher, F. Mummenhoff, Theodora Stein, Charles Krauss, Geo. Muller, C. I. Fletcher, Misses Bertha Pfafflin, M. Haueisen, Nellie Haueisen, Minnie Hærle, Bertha Gall. Next comes the doll booth—a garden scene.

At the back is a view of the Hudson river. On one side is a stone wall, and on the opposite is a terraced wood. Dolls of every color and nationality, black and white, lady dolls and servants, are shown. The mottees are:

Girls and boys come out to play.

The moon is shining bright as day;
Leave your supper and leave your sleep,
And come to your playmates in the street;
Come with a whoop and come with a call,
Come with a good will, or not at all;
Up the ladder and down the wall.

A half menny loss will serve used! A half penny loaf will serve us all.

> Ride a cock-horse To Banbury Cross. To see little Johnny

On a white horse. The costumes are pink and blue, made in nurse-dress style, and the ladies wear nurse caps and aprons. The ladies in the booth are the Mesdames J. E. Scott, J. C. Snaffer, Chap Williams, Cooper, Gardner, Hendrickson, Misses Bessie Angle, Tousey.

The art booth is truely artistic. The beautiful fret work which is now so fashionable has been used for the front very effectively, and every thing about it is tasteful. Inside, the ladies have all kinds of art work—pictures from the brushes of Mr. Cox, Mr. Steele, Mr. Putzki and Mrs. Tucker. Mr. Potter has given some fine photographs. There are also otchings, cabinets the prize tapestry picture and quancabinets, the prize tapestry picture and quantities of beautiful things. The mottoes are:

Daffy-down-dilly has come to town In a yellow petticoat and a green gown.

I saw a peacock with a fiery tail; I saw a blazing comet drop down hail; I saw a cloud wrapped with ivy round; saw an oak creep on the ground;

I saw a snail swallow a whale; I saw a sea brimful of ale; I saw a Venice glass full tifteen feet deep; I saw a well full of men's tears, that weep; I saw red eyes, all flaming fire; saw a house bigger than the moon and higher; saw the sun at 12 o'clock at night; I saw the man that saw this wondrous sight.

The costumes are yellow and green. In this booth are the Mesdames David Coffin and W. P. Bingham, assisted by Mesdames O. G. Pfaff, J. W. Kern, Misses Mary Atkins, Carrie Majott, Lizzie Dye, Nellie Whitcomb and Mrs. Wilbur

The annex has a display of Miss Williamson's art embroideries and is in charge of Mrs. H. S. Hanckel, the Misses Ritzinger, Mary Morrison, Mrs. Ovid Jameson and Miss Georgia Maxwell. The English or Jack Spratt lnn is at the right of the stage. It is a veritable inn, with its gabled roof, its latticed windows, its ivy covered walls, its old clock and quaint fire place, its settees and blue and white covered tables. Here one may satisfy the inner cravings with oysters, ham, veal loaf, doughnuts, pie and coffee after 5 P. M. The mottoes are a feature. They are done in water-colors and are very artistic. The words to some are: "Jack Spratt could eat no fat, etc." "Shall I not take mine ease in mine own inn?" "Polly put the kettle on and we'll all take tea." "Tis not the food, but the content that makes the table's merriment" "Peas pudding hot, peas pudding cold, peas pudding in the pot nine days old, etc." "If all the world was apple pie, and all the sea was ink; if all the trees were bread and cheese, what should we do for drink?" And, "Sugar and spice and everything nice.' The costumes are brown-figured calico, with leg-o'-mutton sleeves, and white caps and aprons. The ladies here are the Mesdames Laura Kregelo and Laura Hodges, assisted by Mesdames Peter Bryce, N. S. Byram, Dr. Blitz, B. F. Waite, H. P. Wasson, Major Taylor, Robert Catheart, G. W. Combs, George Beck, Misses Bessie Beck, Winifred Willard, Mary Bryce. To the left of the stage is the flower booth, and its rustic appearance is very appropriate. A lattice covers the front and vines and ropes of green, and roses are used as garlands. The mottoes here are: "Mary, Mary, quite con-trary, how does your garden grow?" "Draw a pail of water for my lady's daughter. My father's a king, my mother's a queen, my two little sisters are dressed in green. Stamping grass and parsley, marigold leaves and daisies. One rush, two rush; pray thee, fine lady, come under my bush." The costumes are of clive and white, made in Kate Greenaway style. Flowers of all kinds may be purchased here of Miss Mattie Stewart, assisted by Mrs. Sallie Vajen, and the Misses Ariana Holliday, Sallie Holliday, Nellie Allen, Lulu Jordan, Gertrude

Jordan and Sarah Skillen. The next booth is designed after an old Southern home, and herein may be found linen and china, and sweet-smelling pot-pourri for rose jars. One end of the booth is furnished as a dining-room, and the other as a parlor, and in the center is a high, old-fashioned mantel and a fire-place. Over the latter is the couplet "Cross patch, draw the latch, sit by the fire and spin; take a cup and drink it up, and call the neighbors in." On the outside is "Rosemary green and lavender blue, thyme and sweet majoram, hyssop and rue." The costumes are of gobelin blue, made plain, with white caps, and round fans. The ladies here are the Mesdames A. B. Gates, Henry Schurmann, Harry Gates, Ed Schurmann, Hewitt Howland, Julia Snarp, Jessie Hughes, Miss Anna Porter, Miss Julia Brown,

Miss Garrard, Miss Emma Avers, Miss Margaret Barry, and Miss Lizzie Herod. The basket booth is one of the unique features of the fair. The front is covered with a | in the hospital before the next General basket packing case from Germany, and is very | Assembly, and pledges her his hearteffective. The inside is painted in shades of test support. In his letter he eays: effective. The inside is painted in shades of willow, and lanterns are hung here and there. Baskets of every variety are here. Hampers are a specialty, and so are some new kindergarten games, lunch baskets for school children, baskets of sweet grass and Indian baskets. The costumes are pale blue and gilt brocade, with blue pongee waists and cane of red velvet and gold. The venders are Mrs. H. R. Allen, Miss Nannie Newcomer, Mrs. Chas. Martindale, Miss

Mary Allen, Mrs. James T. Wright. The mot-

There was a young man of Bamboo Who thought he could live in a basket, But the reason, he said. Has gone out of my head; I'm sure I can't tell if you ask it.

There was an old woman Tossed up in a basket Forty times as high as the sky.

The candy booth will have to be seen. It is original and Japanesey in the extreme. The portieres of buckeyes and macaroni are "worth the price of admission." Home made candy is the feature, and French and common candy of all kinds is for sale. The motto is:

Handy spandy Jack a-dandy, Loves plum cake and sugar candy, He bought some at a grocer's shop,

And out he came, hop, hop, hop. The costumes for the married ladies are brown, yellow and white, and for the young ladies, yellow and white. The candy ladies are the Mesdames H. McCoy and W. S. Steele and the Misses Nancy Baker, May Shipp, Mary Wilson, Julia McCoy, Jessie Clippinger and Alice Baker.

Next comes the "Little Crooked House," where aprons, shoe bags, clothes bags, pin "Queen in the pantry" or the "Maid in the garden." The couplets are:

Needles and pins, needles and pins When a man's married his trouble begins.

Old Mother Twitchet has but one eye And a very long tail which she lets fly. Every time she goes over a gap She leaves a part of her tail in the trap.

er, Woodburn, J. W. Beck, Will King and the Misses Anna Baggs, Bryan, Alberta Johnson. Florence Miller. The fish pond is not very pretentious, but it will be generously patronized by the young people who like to invest a small amount. A high stone wall surrounds the pond and the mermaids who dwell here are the Misses Florence Coffin, Anna Schuler, Shirley Daily, Kate Alexander, Grace Phillips, Lizzie Todd, Clara Bond, in cos-

It is decorated in national colors and the ladies dispense lemonade and look well in their costumes of red, white and blue. Mrs. Henry Coe, assisted by Mrs. Belte N. Adams, Mrs. John W. Jones, Mrs. Mary C. Thompson. Miss Cornelia McCay, Miss Ethel Williamson and Miss Florence Conner are found in this booth. The couplets are "As round as an apple,"

> There's many an excellent saint; St. George with dragon and lance, St. Patrick so jolly and quaint, St. Vitus, the saint of the dance, St. Denis the saint of the Gaul. St. Andrew the saint of the Scot, But Jonathan, youngest of all, Is the mightiest saint of the lot.

A ship under full sail occupies the center of the room, and here are jelies and fruits in abundance. The costumes are skirts of light blue, with waist of black velvet and white gamps. The ship is captained by Mrs. S. K. Fletcher and Mrs. J. A. Moore, assisted by Mesdames Patterson and Wetzel and the Misses Deborah Moore, Leah Fletcher, Mary Fletcher, Agnes Moore, Adele Wallick and Ethel Fletcher.

Notes of the Fair. A number of additions to several of the booths will be made to-day.

The entertainment, last night, in charge of Dr. C. E. Wright, was carried out according to the printed programme of yesterday. The "Flower Mission" tableau last night was an exquisite setting of statuary and bisque figures. It will be repeated to-night and Saturday

Luncheon will be served to-day from 12 till 2 o'clock by the tadies of the Second Presbyterian, First Baptist. First Lutheran, Taber-nacle, Roberts Park, Hall-place and Fifth Pres-byterian Churches, in the corridors of the hall.

The programme for this evening's entertainment is "An Amateur Pantomine Rehearsal," with Dr. D. A. Thompson, Mr. Clarence Hough, of Greenfield, Mr. Edward Seguin, Mr. Schuyler Colfax, Miss Anna Baggs, Miss Genevieve Elliott, Miss Winifred Hunter, Miss May Closser and others to take part.

CALLERS AND CORRESPONDENTS.

Incidents of Minor Interest Relative to the Daily Routine of the Harrison Family.

The callers at General Harrison's residence, while they are fewer than in the ante-election day, represent a good deal wider stretch of territory than those who came before the 6th inst., and it is likely that every State in the Union will be represented here during the winter. The mail continues to increase, and it is estimated that more than 6,000 letters and nearly as many telegrams have been received since the election. Among the newspapers which came yesterday was a copy of a Philadelphia paper containing a slip with the announcement that the publishers would pay $50 to anyone who would name the next Cabinet correctly, and when the slip was shown to the General he remarked that he would not enter into that com-

of applicants for political appointments, but such letters invariably find their way to the waste-basket, as Mrs. Harrison desires it emphatically understood that she is not in politics. Other letters to ladies of the family are answered as promptly as possible, but there are many messages of a congratulatory nature that must fail to be acknowledged, although they are none the less appreciated.

As an instance of the demand made by the correspondence forty-four letters were written yesterday acknowledging the compliment paid the General and his wife in naming infants after them, forty-one of the youngsters being named after the General and three after his wife. All of these infants have been christened since the election, and since the nomination three sets of triplets have been reported, each set containing a child named Harrison and one named Cleveland. The third child in each set was not reported as to nomenclature, and the presumption is that it got away, like the pet beaver, which gnawed its way out of its box yesterday and escaped. Mrs. Russell-Harrison, who has been here for some time past, returns to Omaha to-morrow, and Hon. J. S. Clarkson and Col. Swords, of Des Moines, who were entertained at supper by General Harrison last evening, will return home Among last evening's visitors was Col. Geo. W. Friedley, of Lafayette. Recent gifts from absent friends include a handsomely-bound volume from Mr. John Wanamaker, of Philadelphia, containing engravings of the various characters in Munkacsy's famous painting, Christ before Pilate.

Letters from Former Pastors. At the semi-centennial social of the Second Presbyterian Church, Monday evening, among the many pleasant incidents was the reading of letters from two of the former pastors of the church. One was:

1200 K STREET, WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 14. Mrs. Bartlett and myself regret exceedingly that our duties prevent our celebrating with the dear peo-ple of the good old Second Church their half century of noble service. I thank God that I was permitted to help for a short time in the success and bear some humble part in its prosperity.

May the blessing of the faithful Lord still continue with you. Remember us both most cordially to the people. We send love and congratulations.

Your ex-pastor and always friend, W. A. BARTLETT. Dr. Withrow acknowledges the invitation extended to him to attend the semi-centennial of the Second Presbyterian Church of Indianapolis, Nov. 19 proximo, and begs to say that previous engagements will CHICAGO, Nov. 14, 1888.

Insane Hospital Management. Mrs. Mary E. Hiatt, formerly connected with the Insane Hospital, and whose discharge by the Democratic managers of that institution for expressing her personal gratification over Gen. Harrison's election, was noted in the Journal of the 11th inst., is in receipt of a letter from Mr. Newton H. Meek, of Crawfordsville, Mr. Meak heartily approves Mrs. Hiatt's proposition to bring the outrages practiced upon patients "I intend to call our Representative's attention to this matter and try and have the hospital management again investigated by the next General Assembly. If need be I will go before the investigating committee myself and tell of the horrors there. I have seen enough of the treatment and the fare given the patients to warrant a change of management, and I will do all in my power to bring it about."

Yesterday morning Councilman Swain's house was damaged slightly by a fire that broke out in a closet. A stranger, so drunk be could not give his name or residence, was brought into the stationhouse last night with $542 in his pocket. Secretary Heron, of the Board of Agriculture, reports an increased interest on the part of the public in the agricultural museum at the Capitol building.

The grocery store at No. 200 South Pine street, belonging to Harvey Allison, was partially destroyed by fire last night. The fire originated, it is thought, from a defective flue. The loss is about $200, covered by insurance. The Citizens' Loan and Improvement Company, of Fort Wayne, filed articles of incorpora-tion yesterday. The capital stock is $25,000, and the directors are John M. Coombs, Sidney C. Lumbard, Fred A. Newton, Charles E. Bond and Frank Welling. The Indianapolis Propylæum has issued in circular form its certificate of incorporation and articles of association, which show that it is founded on strictly a basiness basis. The circular bears at its head the seal of the corporation, described thus: "A circle bearing on its circumference the words 'Indianapolis Propyimum,' with the date, 1888, and containing within a representation of the structure in ancient Athens called the Propylea." Personal and Society.

Miss Lou Lauders has gone to Martinsville to visit friends until after Thanksgiving. Editors M. C. Garber, of the Madison Courier, and John F. Wildman, of the Muncie Times, vere visitors in this city yesterday.

Henry L. Wilson, who has been actively engaged in the campaign here during the past few months, left for his home in Washington Territory last night.

Hon. Frank McCray, of this city, and Miss Clara Puch, of Peru, will be married to-day at the residence of Miss Pugh's parents, in that city. Quite a number of Indianapolis people will attend the wedding. Mrs. Lou Hawkins, Mrs. A. M. Noe and Mrs. L. B. Seward will go to Chicago to-day to attend the meeting of the International Council of Fair and Exposition Managers, which will be held at the Sherman House on Thursday and Friday. Mrs. May Wright Sewall will go to Chicago to-morrow to attend a meeting of the executive officers of the National Council of Women for the United States, which convenes there on Friday and Saturday. Mrs. Sewall will return late Saturday, accompanied by Miss Susan B.

What promises to be one of the most interestng entertainments of the season is the "Fing Drill," which takes place at Roberts Park Church this evening. The programme is neatly arranged and the representations are something entirely new, having never been given in this city before. The Fortnightly Literary Club met yesterday afternoon with Mrs. J. S. Jenckes, on North Pennsylvania street. Miss Margaret Barry read a paper on "Dialect in Literature," and a conversation on current events was participated in by Mrs. Fairbanks, Miss Mary Alice Claypool and Miss Baker.

Col. John S. Clarkson and wife, and Colonel Swords and wife, of Des Moines, lowa, spent yesterday in the city as the guests of Mr. and Mrs. H. D. Pierce, and "did" the city. They left last night at 11 o'clock for home. Mrs. Pierce and Mrs. Swords were together as students at Vassar. Mrs. E. L. McKee gave a handsome tea yesterday afternoon, from 3 to 6 o'clock, in honor of Mrs. Harrison, Mrs. J. R. McKee, Mrs. Brown of Virginia, and Miss Strickel. Flowers were tastefully placed about the rooms, filling the atmosphere with their fragrance, The guests were seated at small tables. The hostess was assisted by her mother, Mrs. Coughlen, her sister Mrs. Cleland, and Mrs. Hibben, Mrs. Harold Hibben and Miss Louise Hibben. A few of the guests were Mrs. R. S. McKee, Mrs. S. K. Fletcher, Mrs. T. L. Sewall, Mrs. H. P. Wetsell, Mrs. Malott, Miss Malott, Miss Vaughn, and Miss Ewan of Nashville, Miss Farquhar, Miss McKee, Mrs. Wulsin, Miss Fahnley, Mrs. Wetzell and others.

Mr. Charles T. Parsloe, a comedian of excellent powers, will be at English's to-morrow night and the rest of the week, in the new farcesomedy, "A Grass Widow," which is said to be very funny. The supporting company is well selected. Seats are now on sale.

The Valda grand concert, to be given at Y. M. C. A. Hall to-night, includes, in addition to the famous soprano, Mme. guilia Valda, Mme. Anna Bulkley Hitls, the well-known contracto, Eugene de Danckwardt, an admirable young tenor, and Walter Hudson, a very promising basso and Chevalier Antoine de Konteki, the planist. The entertainment is likely to be one of the best of the Y. M. C. A. series, and ought to attract an audience worthy of it.

A Large Purchase of Real Estate. For some days negotiations were pending between President Ingalls, of the Cincinnati, Indianapolis, St. Louis & Chicago road, and Nicholas McCarty, for the purchase of the valuable tracts of ground lying on the north and south of the C., I., St. L. & C. freight depot. Yesterday the purchase was concluded by the directors of the road approving it. The conveyance will include all the ground between Delaware and Alabama streets, Pogue's run and the C. I. St. L. & C. tracks north of the freight depot, formerly occupied as Cobb & Branbam's coal yard, and the whole square south of the depot, between the same streets, now used for a coal and lumber-vard. President Incalls paid Mr. McCarty $130,000 for the property, the ground being more valuable to his company than to any other party. It is understood that the company will soon erect a new freight depot north of the present one, and utilize the ground on the south for side-tracks. The main track will be brought down through the center of the property, in a line with the Union Station.

Organized for Permanent Work. A large and enthusiastic meeting of members of the association known during the recent campaign as the Irish-American Protective Tariff Club was held at the court-house last night to consider the question of forming a permanent organization. It was unanimously decided to reorganize. The following officers were selected: President, P. A. Ward; vice-president, Edward Nolan; treasurer, P. J. Kelleber; Secretary, Michael Moroney, A vote of thanks was tendered President Ward and the other officers for their efficient management during the campaign just ended. Com-mittees were appointed to report a constitution for the club's covernment and to secure permanent quarters for its future occupancy. It was decided that the club would attend in a body the inauguration of President Harrison, and on motion the meeting adjourned until called together again by its officers.

Blackford County Settles. Blackford is the first county to make its settlement for 1887 at the State Auditor's office. Treasurer J. T. Kelley, of that county, had his port showing $4,545.50 due the commonwealth. Equal Suffrage Meeting. The executive board of the State Suffrage Association held a meeting yesterday morning at the Bates House, and all the officers were present except Mrs. Zerelda Wallace, who is in Ar-kausas lecturing in the interest of the association. The business was simply of a routine character relating to the work the association had in hand the past few months. In that connection a report will be published within a few days by the corresponding secretary. Mrs. Ida.

Accidents on the Track.

Charles Clarke, depot policeman, in alighting, yesterday morning, from a Wabash passenger train at the St. Clair-street crossing, tripped and fell with one of his legs lying under the wheels. It was crushed below the knee. Clarke was removed to his home by Flanner & Buchanan. He was attended by Dr. Marsee, who amputated the injured limb. Mr. Clarke was, until a few months ago, connected with the Metropolitan police force. Lewis Neighloker, living at No. 70 Stevens street, was struck by an engine on the Union tracks last night and badly hurt. He will suffer the loss of one arm.

Christ Before Pilate.

It has often been said that Munkacsy has no only painted the bodies of men but their souls, and on looking at the great canvas on which is depicted Christ before Pilate one cannot help being impressed by that thought. One can almost read the thoughts of every one of the characters portrayed in the picture. The impression is made that they are living and breathing men. Those who fail to study this wonder ful work of art will lose an opportunity that may never occur again during their lives.

Did Very Little Business. John W. Murphy, Volney T. Malott and William Wallace, the commissioners appointed to appraise the property to be condemned and bought for the extension of the government building, met yesterday morning, and examined several witnesses and adjourned to resume their session this morning at 10 o'clock.

He Went Home with a New Egg-Strange things happen in Arkansas almost as often as in Texas. Some time ago a gentleman came from Little Rock to the National Surgical Institute, of this city, who was short one ear. The merest remnant of what had been an ear remained—the fragment of a stump. Dr. H. R. Allen, of the Institute, did not ask the gentleman how he came to lose so ornamental a portion of his facial outfit, but, understanding that he wanted the deficiency supplied. in case it could be done. the Doctor went to work to give the Arkansan a new ear. The edges of the stump were freshened and attached to the skin above, and the parts so joined were allowed to grow to-gether and become thoroughly united. This union was suffered to remain undisturbed for about two months, when a resection was made, taking up the skin of the neck, which was united to the remnant of the ear, carried up and folded backward upon itself, leaving the skin in

"Of course," said one of the physicians, describing the operation, "the ear was made a lit-tle larger than the other car to allow for the contraction which usually takes place in such plastic operations, but the outcome was that the Arkansan went home with two well-matched ears, and perfectly happy." The Surgical Institute has repaired and re-stored a considerable number of noses, but the plaster operation to restore an ear is a much rarer performance. THE best assortment of winter underwear, gloves and half-hose at Paul H. Krause's, 26 and
